Civic Leaders Discuss Pier, Bus, Jr. High

The Allied Civic associations of Ocean Beach met for their regular session on September 25 in the new Fleet Reserve hall.

The fishing pier committee, Carl Schroeder chairman, reported they had called on the board of supervisors and the planning commission. The plans have been passed on but all the money is not available at present. Mr. Schroeder said we would have a pier in Ocean Beach even if we have to bond for it.

Albert Dumont of this committee also reported the police and life guard station plans had been submitted to the PWA and it would probably be eight months before we heard from this.

Mrs. Esther Wisdom, chairman of the school committee, reported that since the proposed new Junior high school concerns all of Pt. Loma the matter will be taken up through the present high school patrons as a whole. When this comes up it is most necessary that Ocean Beach residents take part in that they have about forty percent of the students in the school.

This committee also had a report on the bus situation which has been attracting so much attention of late. The activity pass is out. The transportation company is putting back the dollar pass, good till 4 p. m. The $1.25 pass is good till 6 p. m. The street car company does not wish a franchise to the school, but will run there in inclement weather. The company wants either Ocean Beach or the school board to contract with them for the extra mileage if the busses go all the way to the school.

For permanent adjustment of the transportation problems for all of Ocean Beach it was suggested the organization file a request with the Railroad commission to make a survey and see that adequate service for the community be provided. Information showing the amount of development in the past ten years and the expected future development also the lack of development in transportation facilities to keep up with this growth should be included. The community must also show that such service will be sustained.

Mrs. Wisdom was appointed chairman of a committee to meet with the Board of Education to see what could be done concerning the immediate bus problem and later to take up the other matter.

The report on W. Pt. Loma paving was to the effect that there were not enough property owners to pay for the paving a great part of the street belonging to state parks. Relief must be obtained from the state parks board and the board of supervisors if anything is to be done.

Mr. Sommer reported the band concerts were discontinued for the remainder of the season. He donated to the organization the amount he was out on transportation.

The letter on tree trimming was evidently effective as most of the trees were trimmed.

A letter of protest was requested to be written to the city manager concerning removal of life guards from our beaches.

The removal of dirt, which was causing a safety hazard for high school students, from the sidewalks on Voltaire was to be taken care of.

Fisherman Drowned Slipped From Rocks

"One last cast" J. M. Biggers, 34 part owner of the San Diego Linen Supply Co., said last Friday night at 6:15, and lost his footing on the rocks to fall into the surf at the foot of Granger st., Sunset Cliffs, where he had been fishing. His body was recovered at 7:20 p. m. and after resuscitation attempts he was pronounced dead at 7:40.

For about seven minutes Biggers struggled for his life in 10 feet of water while his business associate Maurice J. Dwyer, 4574 32nd street, missed in rescue efforts by three or four feet it is said.

BRIDGE AGAIN IN SOCIAL FAVOR

The summer calendar has featured parties coming and going, including those for out of town guests, visiting sojourners and departing collegians as well as the familiar garden variety. The fall calendar shows bridge reappearing among popular groups which have been discontinued through the summer.

One of the first such cliques to be resumed was the foursome entertained Tuesday, Sept. 22 by Mrs. F. C. Barks at her home on Santa Monica. Her three guests were Mesdames E. E. Wells, W. S. Harris and Decker. Mrs. Wells was hostess next—and so it goes and grows.

Mrs. F. B. McElwee started a smart set bidding when she entertained with a bridge-luncheon Friday at the Renee Faubian. Autumn was stressed in the covers for eight, marked for Mesdames J. A. Gilbert, Tom Mason, C. W. Varney, J. W. Rankin, Bessie Harrison, Joe Graham of San Diego, Miss Margaret Rankin and the hostess.

Visitor From El Paso—
Mrs. R. L. Lee of El Paso, Texas, arrived Saturday, September 19, to spend a fortnight with her mother, Mrs. F. W. Conner. Mrs. Lee was accompanied here by her husband, R. L. Lee, who continued on to San Francisco on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Bushnell are guests—
Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bushnell are house guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Wenrich. Mrs. Wenrich is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bushnell. They have just returned from one of their usual cross-country jaunts, to Chicago and into Michigan this time. They will make their winter home in the Laguna mountains.

Ladd, the Bushnell's great airdale, a traveler of wide experience, is also visiting here. Having accompanied his master and mistress for more than eleven years, he has approved the interiors of smartest hotels.

In Dallas, Texas—
Frederic Meiers left at the close of San Diego's '36 Exposition to visit his father, F. E. Meiers of Dallas, Texas. He is now associated with the Globe Players at the Dallas Centennial Exposition, with which company he was employed last year. While there he has taken an apartment with three other Globe members.

Frederic distinguished himself in academic and artistic fields at the Point Loma high school from which he graduated and as a student at State College. His work in the dramatic arts under the direction of Emory Shepherd was of special significance. Follow his career and you will reach top.

Point Loma Looks to its Laurels—
School bells sound the prevailing note and parents, teachers, students, all are eagerly enthusiastic for honors to be won this fall. And judging by the past, Point Loma has every right to expect praiseworthy records in athletics, English, music, dramatics and all school activities. However, opportunities for student awards are not limited to the school term and it was one such opportunity this summer that Point Loma students again won enviable records, as well as cash awards.

All winning essays on "Educational Features of the Exposition" selected from hundreds submitted in the statewide Exposition essay contest for school children, sponsored by Frank G. Belcher, were written by local students. They were:

Winner, senior high schools, Margaret Grey Johnson, 16, Pt. Loma High school student, $25; second, same class, Robert Golden, 15, Pt. Loma high, $25; junior high school award, Frank Howell, Pacific Beach Junior high, $15; elementary schools, Mary Blaine Farrel, Loma Portal school, $10; and second, same class, Kenneth Golden, Loma Portal school.

Judges were Dr. E. L. Hardy, chairman; Floyd A. Johnson, Lee L. Bloomenshine, Mrs. Adele Outcalt and Elwood T. Bailey, executive vice president of the exposition.

The awards were made at the children's matinee of the San Diego symphony orchestra, August eighth, by Mr. Belcher after an address by Mrs. Vesta Muehleisen, director of the exposition Palace of Education, who had charge of the contest.

To Visit in England—

Albert Johnson of 2939 Owen street left Sept. 18 for England where he will visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson of Northampton. Johnson crossed the continent by train and at New York boarded the Queen Mary for Southampton where he will continue his journey by train. After a month's sojourn in his native land he plans to return the same Queen Mary way.

Leaves for Louisiana—

Willis Lejune, 4953 Niagara ave., left Saturday for a two month's trip to Louisiana, his former home.

Beach Favored as Winter Home—

Mr. and Mrs. Cal Vowel of Gibbon, Okla., winter sojourners for the past ten years at Camp Holiday, have arrived for their annual visit.

H. Carlisle of the United States navy and Mrs. Carlisle are here on call of duty from Norfolk, Va. They are at home at 5082 Narragansett avenue for the winter.

Miss Virginia Redman of San Francisco is with her aunt, Mrs. Mable Jones of the Silver Spray apartments for an indefinite stay. Miss Redman is a frequent visitor here and her arrival last Saturday evening was a happy surprise to friends.

Back from Laguna—

Mrs. Albert Johnson and daughter Edna returned last week from a fortnight rest in the Laguna mountains.

Point Loma Young Set Attends

Mutual Improvements Association Point Lomans were numbered among the large group attending the Mutual Improvement association Tuesday evening when they met in downtown San Diego at 3705 Tenth street.

The organization, as its name indicates, is established in the interests of cultural improvements. An interesting program is calendared for this season by Mrs. Roy Miller of Sunset Cliffs (Mrs. Miller writes Style Scout-ing with Emma Lee) and Terry Oaks.

The department of music is under the supervision of Miss Nina Kline. Miss Doris May Compton, recently a student of the Pasadena community play house is drama director. Literature division is in charge of similarly capable direction. Guest conductors and directors being engaged have already booked Mrs. Dwight Earl Easley, supervising director and one of the founders of the Barn Players. W. Emory Shepherd of Point Loma and Havrah Hubbard, distinguished music and drama commentator. Miss Mary Shreve and Roy Miller are leaders in study groups.

The first part of Tuesday's program included musical and dramatic numbers selected from talented members, and an inspiring talk on the little theater and its possibilities. The affair closed with the customary dance.

Point Lomans showing interest are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller, Mrs. M. H. Golden; Misses Mary Shreve, Esten Shreve, Ruth Harris, Virginia Cannon, Betty Ballinger, Nina Kline, Veronica Smylie; Messrs. Joseph E. Shreve Jr., Gidi Rock, Raymond Ault. Young people interested are invited to attend. Altho the Church of the Latter Day Saints sponsors the separate theater and dance hall, it in no way obligates one to be of that faith.

Leaves for Winter Home—

Mrs. Nannette Baker, smart annual sojourner at the Newport hotel, will leave tomorrow after a five-months stay, for her home in Iowa. She will be accompanied by her brother, A. E. Cahill, as far as Tucson, Arizona.

Mrs. Baker is being entertained today by her mother Mrs. H. H. Cahill of San Diego.

On Being Ten—

John Avarad Ostrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Ostrom, celebrated his tenth birthday with a gay party Saturday from two until six. Guests gathered in gardens of the Ostrom home and were happily surprised on

Little Increase Tax Levy Despite Increased Cost

Although there has been a tremendous drain on county funds caused by the necessity of caring for the unemployed, aged and indigents, the tax levy has risen only $134,611, during the past six years, it is revealed by Edgar F. Hastings, chairman of the board of supervisors.

The report by Hastings was made on official figures from the county auditor's office, and exposed as being unfounded, rumors circulated by political enemies that the cost of county government is excessive.

In 1930, the county tax levy in San Diego, exclusive of schools, was $2,975,318. In 1936, after six years of business depression and social upheaval which sent thousands of persons to relief rolls, the tax levy is only $3,109,929, an actual increase of but $134,611 in six years.

The auditor's files show that in 1930 the department of public welfare required only $418,710 from the county budget. In 1936, the funds necessitated by the welfare department to carry on its seriously needed humanitarian work had leaped to $2,041,210, or $1,622,500 more than in 1930.

Few realize that during this period the county has grown over 35% in population. This is substantiated by the fact that the Gas and Electric company have to increase their facilities at the present time 50 per cent. The additional cost of taking care of this increase in population is also absorbed in the small additional amount of $134,611.

In order for the supervisors to finance this tremendous increase of over one and a half million dollars in the welfare budget, it was necessary to cut the current running expenses of the county in every department to the absolute minimum. That the increase of the total budget over a six year period is only $134,611, after absorbing $1,633,500 increase in the welfare budget is little less than miraculous. This constitutes one of the finest pieces of governmental management in the State of California and the supervisors should receive the credit that is due them.

Following are the figures from the county auditor's office:

being entertained at the theatre matinee by Charlie Chan. Returning to the garden a cleverly appointed dinner was served around the backyard grill. Ten white candles on a decorative chocolate cake were extinguished at one time, indicating a future civil engineer to be John Ostrom. Those invited were Beau Bonfield, Jimmy McFadden, LeRoy Bennett, George Shields, Jr., Edward Williamson and Jack Peterson.

Mrs. Annie Mulville of Del Mar avenue has taken an apartment in San Diego for the winter months.

Frank B. McElwee To Head Kiwanis In '37

Frank B. McElwee, a charter member of Ocean Beach Kiwanis, was on Wednesday elected to serve as president for the coming year of 1937. Rollin Reed, local manager of Bank of America, will be the new vice president and E. E. Follin, treasurer.

Dr. Wilhoit was chairman of the day's program with Jim Claspill as speaker, the latter recounting the most interesting parts of his recent trip to European countries, (Ocean Beach News, Sept. 18).

The speaker stated the party or "tour" with which he was associated was in London twelve days and it rained every day they were there. No buildings in the city are over six stories in height and the fare on the "underground" is 2c, instead of 5c they paid in New York City. In Holland there is one bicycle to every three persons and the best time, it was claimed, to visit that country is in the fall when the canals freeze then everyone takes a week's holiday to go skating. Every man in Belgium serves four years in the army. In Germany they visited the former Kaiser's palace and saw his celebrated solid silver table set.

In Geneva, Switzerland, they had the special privilege of going thru the Peace Palace. On July 30 they crossed the Alps in a blizzard and walked thru a tunnel cut in a glacier. Trains in Switzerland were reported as the best in all Europe and cleaner owing to electrical energy being used entirely. In Italy they paid 20c to 50c per quart for drinking water, most of the population there drink wine.

VAL DAGE

Master of Ceremonies

An entertainment of unusual merit, free to residents of Ocean Beach and Point Loma, will be presented at the Point Loma high school next Monday night with the compliments of the local Mac Marr, Piggly-Wiggly and Safeway stores.

Appearing on the diversified program will be artists who have been featured on California's Hour, one of radio's foremost offerings. The show, known as Val's 1936 Revue, has been acclaimed on a tour that has covered San Diego county.

In the cast will be The Three Musketeers, in hoe down music; Jade Wynne, "feminine baritone;" Betty Harrod, The Military Girl; Marjorie Turner, accordionist and marimba expert; Marion Squires, dance soloist featuring the Devil's dance; Evelyn Martin, soprano; Lyle and George, cowboy musicians; Sunny Laengle, acrobatic dancer, and Edith Steele and her orchestra. Val Dage is master of ceremonies.

Ocean Beach and Point Loma residents are invited as guests of the above mentioned stores, where free tickets may now be obtained.

Roosevelt vs. Hearst on "Red Backing"

ASSERTIONS made by William Randolph Hearst and other opponents of the New Deal that the President "passively accepts" the support of the Communists have got under Mr. Roosevelt's skin. A statement issued through Stephen T. Early, his secretary, said:

"My attention has been called to a certain notorious newspaper owner to make it appear that the President passively accepts the support of alien organizations hostile to the American form of government."

"Such articles are conceived in malice and born of political spite. They are deliberately framed to give a false impression, in other words to 'frame' the American people."

"The President does not want and does not welcome the vote or support of any individual or group taking orders from alien sources."

"This simple fact is, of course, obvious."

"The American people will not permit their attention to be diverted from real issues to fake issues which no patriotic, honorable, decent citizen would purposely inject into American affairs."

Mr. Hearst, who was in Amsterdam, promptly replied by cable, saying in part:

"The President has issued a statement through a secretary. He has not had the frankness to say to whom he refers in the statement . . . I think I am justified in assuming that I am the object of the statement, and that I may courteously endeavor to correct Mr. Roosevelt's misstatements and to set him right."

"Let me say that I have not stated at any time whether the President willingly or unwillingly received the support of the Karl Marx Socialists, the Frankfurter radicals, communists and anarchists, the Tugwell bolsheviks, and the Richberg revolutionists which constitute the bulk of his following."

"I have simply said and shown that he does receive the support of these enemies of the American system of government, and that he has done his best to deserve the support of all such disturbing and destructive elements."

Al Smith Will Make Some Anti-Roosevelt Speeches

SPECULATION concerning what part Al Smith would take in the Presidential campaign seems to be settled by the news that he will deliver several anti-Roosevelt addresses, the first probably in Carnegie hall in New York in October. He is reported to be making out his own program and planning talks also in Massachusetts and New Jersey. It is said neither the Republican party nor the American Liberty league will be sponsor for his appearances. Until Mr. Smith announces his intentions it will not be known whether or not he will advocate the election of Governor Landon.

Crop Insurance Pushed by the President

IMMEDIATE action toward putting in operation a two-fold crop insurance and drought prevention program was called for by President Roosevelt. It is designed to guard the farmers and the consumers against the danger of food shortages or price collapses. Two committees were named to work out legislation to be asked of the next congress.

Mr. Roosevelt named Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace chairman of a committee directed to "prepare a report and recommendations for legislation providing a plan of 'all risk' crop insurance," and suggested that the system provide for payment of premiums and insurance in commodities. This is in accord with Wallace's proposed plan under which farmers would put part of their crops of good years into a pool from which they could draw in lean years. It would serve, he believes, to keep surpluses from destroying the price structure in good years and provide an "insurance" against crop failures in other years.

Morris L. Cooke, rural electrification administrator, was named chairman of another committee to draft recommendations for a permanent land use program designed to avert drought emergencies in the great plains area.

The President suggested the crop insurance plan might be limited to one or two major crops at the start and that it should be formulated with the advice and assistance of national farm organization leaders so that it can be submitted to congress with their support.

Veterans of Two Wars Open Conventions

VETERANS of the World war and of the Civil war opened their annual gatherings, the American Legion in Cleveland and the Grand Army of the Republic in Washington. The Legionnaires, many thousands of them, started off with the dedication of the Peace Gardens in the Ohio city, for which soil had been brought from sacred shrines of foreign countries and the forty-eight states. National Commander Ray Murphy presided over an impressive ceremony and unveiled a memorial plaque bearing the inscription:

"These gardens, planned by men who know the horrors of war, were dedicated to the brotherhood of man and peace throughout the world."

Commander Murphy in his annual report said: "Whether our country shall be spared participation in another great international conflagration may well depend upon our courage as Legionnaires to stand up and demand that our government now take the steps which may save us, without the loss of honor—a sacrifice we are unwilling to make at any cost."

Only about nine hundred survivors of the Union army were able to attend the G. A. R. encampment, and many believe it will be the last to be held. The aged warriors, headed by Oley Nelson of Iowa, the national commander, began their proceedings with a service in Washington cathedral. The route of their parade was six blocks on Pennsylvania avenue, the scene of the grand review of the Union armies before President Andrew Johnson seventy-one years ago.

Virgin Islands Have New Federal Judge

GEORGE P. JONES of Minnesota, who has been serving as a special assistant to the attorney general of the United States since 1934, has been made judge of the federal district court for the Virgin Islands. This is a recess appointment by President Roosevelt and is subject to confirmation by the senate.

Mr. Jones planned to leave for St. Thomas about October 1. He succeeds Judge Albert C. Levitt of Connecticut, who resigned August 1 because, as he alleged, the Department of the Interior interfered with the processes of his court.

The oath of office was administered to Mr. Jones in Washington by Ugo Carusi, executive assistant to Attorney General Cummings, in the presence of Mr. Cummings and a number of other officials.

McAlexander, "Rock of the Marine," Dies

MAJ. GEN. ULYSSES S. GRANT McALEXANDER, U. S. A., retired, who won fame in the World war as "The Rock of the Marine," died suddenly in his home in Portland, Ore., at the age of seventy-two.

The general won his appellation for his stand in stemming a terrific assault by the Germans in their final great offensive on the western front in July, 1918.

He was then colonel in command of the Thirty-eighth infantry, and at the most critical period of the German attack he was told by headquarters that he might fall back if he thought best. He replied positively: "I will hold my lines," and he did. It was the Germans who fell back.

Spanish Rebels Rush on Toward Madrid

SEVERAL columns of Spanish Fascists and Moorish legionnaires were reported to be making a determined drive toward Madrid under the direction of General Franco, and the loyalists were falling back at the rate of five miles a day.

The rebel garrison of the Alcazar in Toledo was still holding out though the government forces, after dynamiting part of the old fortress, made attacks with flaming gasoline. The defenders lost heavily but the survivors kept up their deadly machine gun fire and repulsed the charges of the loyalists. This heroic garrison had been holding the fort for nine weeks.

The American State department ordered the embassy in Madrid closed and warned all Americans still in the capital that they remained at their own risk. The consulate at Malaga also was closed and the consul took refuge in Gibraltar. Diplomats of 13 nations, who had gone to Saint Jean de Luz, France, rejected the Spanish government's demand that they return to Madrid.

Killings Pave the Way for Japan's Move Against China

PROBABLY Japan is about ready to proceed further with the subjugation of China, the latest excuses being the alleged murder of several Japanese nationals by Chinese. It was announced by the navy department in Tokio that Japanese marines had been ordered to land at Hankow to protect the life and property of Japanese there, and that "the navy fears that it may be forced to resort to some defensive measures in the near future." The announcement added that the sincerity of the Nanking government in wanting to end anti-Japanese feeling in China was not dependable and hence protective measures were taken.

Havana Paper Dynamited; Four Persons Killed

FOUR persons were killed and two buildings wrecked by a dynamite blast that shook Havana, Cuba. The plant of the newspaper El Pais was destroyed, and only the quick work of the police saved that of the Diario de la Marina.

Informed authorities expressed belief the explosion was planned by Spanish residents who became angry over publication of Spanish civil war news in the two newspapers.

The blast demolished a Catholic church near the El Pais building. Scores of suspects were arrested, many of them being members of the Spanish Socialist circle.

Defeat of Senator Couzens Pleases the Republicans

REPUBLICANS were highly gratified by the results of the Michigan primary election for two reasons: First, because three out of five persons who went to the polls asked for Republican ballots; second, because Senator James Couzens, a Republican who has openly declared that he is supporting President Roosevelt for re-election, lost his fight for re-nomination.

Couzens, one of the wealthiest members of the senate, was badly defeated by former Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker, and there is more than a suspicion that he knew his fate beforehand. Brucker, who is only forty-two years old, has been in public life for almost twenty years. The Republicans re-nominated Frank D. Fitzgerald for the governorship.

On the Democratic side Representative Prentiss M. Brown won the senatorial nomination against Louis B. Ward who was supported by Father Coughlin. For governor they chose Frank Murphy, high commissioner to the Philippines and former mayor of Detroit. Both Murphy and his defeated opponent, George Welsh, campaigned as Roosevelt supporters.

In the New Hampshire primaries Gov. H. Styles Bridges won the Republican senatorial nomination, ending the effort of former Senator George H. Moses to stage a comeback. The Democrats put up Representative William M. Rogers. Nominees for governor are Maj. Francis P. Murphy, Republican, and Amos N. Blandin, Democrat.

Massachusetts will have for senator either Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., Republican, or James M. Curley, now governor, Democrat. John W. Haisig, Republican, and Charles F. Hurley, Democrat, were nominated for the governorship.

The gubernatorial nominees in Wisconsin are: Gov. Philip La Follette, Progressive; Alexander Wiley, Republican, and Arthur W. Lueck, Democrat.

Savants Gather for the Harvard Tercentenary

IT IS pleasant to turn from war and politics and read of the doings at Cambridge, Mass., where Harvard university is celebrating the tercentenary of its founding.

In Sanders theater was held the academic reception for 554 scholars representing 502 universities, colleges and learned societies in every state of the Union and in forty foreign countries, and all of them wearing the caps, gowns and hoods signifying their various degrees of scholarship.

President James B. Conant greeted the guests, accepted their credentials and delivered a simple address of welcome. He noted that the assembly was an impressive demonstration of the solidarity of the academic world, and saw in the greetings of the delegates "the continued aspiration of mankind toward a universal fellowship based on human reason."

When the delegates were called up in the order of the age of the institutions they represented, first to respond was Prof. Saleh Hashem Attia of Al-Azhar university of Cairo, founded in 970. Then came the next oldest, the Regia university, Neglie Stuni Bologn., founded in the Tenth century, and represented by Prof. Carrado Gini. Third was the University of Paris, founded in the Eleventh century, whose representative was Dr. Cartan. Oxford, Cambridge and all the others followed, down to the youngest represented, the Academia Sinica of Nanking, China.

Wool-Fur Ensembles for Autumn

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WOOL-and-fur ensembles for brisk autumn days are the most talked of costumes among new arrivals for brisk autumn days. Precious furs are combined with very fine sheer wools in stunning formal daytime modes, while popular sports furs such as kidskin and leopard are teamed with novelty wools in outfits that will add extra glamor to the football stadium and campus promenade this fall.

Fingertip and three-quarter length jackets and capes are favored in these costumes, as this type of styling plays up the smart contrast between gleaming fur and dull-surfaced wool used for the lining of the coat and for the accompanying frock or suit.

Capes appear in both swagger and formal styling in any number of the most striking wool-and-fur ensembles. The new square-shouldered slim capes that are making their appearance in advance showings are creating no end of excitement for they are so startlingly different from anything in the way of a daytime wrap seen in recent years. For real swank and a dramatic sensation a likely formula calls for a square-shouldered cape of safari brown Alaska sealskin which, when it swings back, shows a lining of sheer rabbit wool in matching brown, and a fitted frock of the same sheer wool with touches of gold lame at the high collar and tailored cuffs—a true aristocrat in this fashion's realm. The belt buckle of the frock and the neck clasp of the cape are of handsome hammered metal. See this patrician two-piece pictured to the right in the illustration (same cape closed, in tiny inset).

Soft rabbit woolen in a muted green shade styles the nicely cut and detailed frock shown to the left. The identical rabbit woolen also lines the gray moleskin swag coat of this smart fall ensemble. Which reminds us that style experts are all agog in regard to gray this season, especially in respect to furs. Silver lame accents the buttoned narrow gilet and edges the pocket tips. As further attraction the gilet has a row of lame-covered tiny buttons. The diagonal seaming of the dress is noteworthy.

French women adore black and this season they are again expressing a preference for it by wearing costumes of stunning black broadcloth with a touch of high color and with lavish fur. In this category is the formal afternoon costume suit that boasts a fingertip box coat of black kidskin with standup collar and banding trim at cuffs and pockets of the same soft black broadcloth that is used for the jacket lining and a straight cut skirt. A cherry red blouse and a saucy fitted kidskin cap edged with flaring black net completes the ensemble.

Then there is the costume that is very swagger indeed for sportswear and for informal daytime wear in town that features a three-quarter length flared coat of gray kidskin worked cleverly in swirling lines. The coat lining and a two-piece frock in waistcoat styling are made up in oxford rabbit wool with multi-colored polka dots scattered gaily over the surface. An accompanying kidskin hat is worn far back on the head. It is just such all-gray costumes as this that are taking the world of fashion by storm this fall.

LACE OVER METAL

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

All the rich fabrics have a leading place in first fall showings, and the picture is one of luxury. Special importance is placed on metal cloths, heavy nubby silks and wools, and above all new patterns in lace, in such variety as has not been seen before, even in these last few seasons when lace has been foremost in vogue. The redingote dinner gown pictured combines the high-style features of rich fabric and the accepted silhouette. The foundation is heavy metal brocade.

BRIGHT SASHES AND FLOWER CLUSTERS

To be inspired by the men's clothes of the Directoire period and at the same time achieve a most feminine looking collection is certainly no common feat. This was brilliantly demonstrated at the Bruyere fall showings where smart Parisiennes were given a glimpse of beautiful fashions - to be for autumn and winter.

One of the most important items of this collection was the introduction of sashes, such as the elegant beaux of the Directoire used to parade in. They are black on black dresses, and have the ends embroidered in vivid colors. They look graceful and give a brilliant note to the dark day and evening gowns.

Louise Boulanger places flower clusters on the sleeves this time in many of her dresses, encircling the arm.

Dignity Is Latest Note in Fashions for Campus Wear

Fall styles for the school and college miss are going sophisticated. It's no longer smart to cultivate a look of studied carelessness. Swagger "collegiate" clothes are giving way to dignity and formal tailoring. Sweaters are worn with pearls, and formal velveteens are breaking into the classroom. The college lass will be up on her curled pompadours and her smoky shades of polish for the nails. No more boyish bobs or back-to-nature fingertips.

Off-the-face bonnets ready for the big game are dressed up with tiny veils. Bonnet toques are smart in velvet with matching velvet bags. These contrast with the color of the suit: American beauty with slate blue, capucine or caramel with black or with brown, raisin with dark green.

Dressy, fur-trimmed suits are the leading theme for football weekends, with fur jacket costumes a close second.

"The Man Who O-O"

Tales and Traditions from American Political History

BY FRANK E. HAGEN AND ELMO SCOTT WATSON

THAT TWO-THIRDS RULE

IN 1832 a Democratic President decided to have his party's convention (the first it had ever held) renominate him and along with that decision he directed that the nomination of his running mate should be made by vote of two-thirds of the convention delegates.

One hundred and four years later a Democratic President decided to have his party's convention renominate him and along with that action he brought about the abolition of the century-old "two-thirds rule."

The man who originated that distinctively Democratic institution was Andrew Jackson. The man who ended its existence was Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Jackson had selected his secretary of state, Martin Van Buren, for the position of vice-president. The senate had only recently rejected Van Buren's appointment as minister to Great Britain and "Old Hickory" thought it would square accounts with that body to have the "Red Fox" preside over it. Also vice-presidents in those days usually succeeded to the Presidency through regular election and Jackson wanted Van Buren to be his successor four years hence. If, for any reason, the Democrats should try to rebel against the domination of their outgoing President, his control over at least one-third of the convention votes would enable him to block the nomination of any candidate whom he opposed.

So when his party prepared to hold its first convention in Baltimore in 1832, Jackson wrote out this resolution which he gave to one of his lieutenants to present to the delegates:

"Resolved, That each State shall be entitled, in the nomination of a candidate for the Vice-Presidency, to a number of votes equal to the number to which they will be entitled in the Electoral College under the new apportionment in voting for President and Vice-President; and that two-thirds of the whole number of the votes in the convention shall be necessary to constitute a choice."

The Baltimore convention was as completely dominated by Jackson as the recent Philadelphia meeting was controlled by Roosevelt so the delegates obediently adopted the resolution. During Jackson's lifetime several efforts were made to abolish the rule but all of them failed. After his death it became all but sacred and for the next hundred years the shadow of Andrew Jackson, in the form of this rule, hung over every Democratic convention, causing many a stormy session. But that was not inappropriate, considering the stormy career of the man who left his party that legacy.

GASTRONOMIC

ONE of the best ways to win a Presidential campaign is to get a good slogan and din it in the voters' ears. A good slogan appeals to the instincts or to the emotions rather than to the intellect. Combining that fact with the old saying about "the best way to a man's heart is through his stomach" and it's easy to understand certain incidents in political history.

Back in 1840 when the Whigs were trying to elect Gen. William Henry Harrison over Martin Van Buren, the Democratic candidate, they raised the cry of "Van's Policy, Fifty Cents a Day and French Soup; Our Policy, Two Dollars a Day and Roast Beef." Would a hungry voter hesitate long between the two? Of course not!

But there was another gastronomic angle to this campaign. The "singing Whigs" set to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne" such words as these:

Should good old cider be despised
And ne'er regarded more?
Should plain log cabins be despised
Our fathers built of yore?
For the true old style, my boys!
For the true old style,
Let's take a mug of cider now
For the true old style.

So the thirsty voters who wanted "good old cider" joined with the hungry voters who wanted "roast beef" and together they elected Harrison.

Although the Whigs' slogan in 1840 was the ancestor of the "Full Dinner Pail" of a later era, that expression didn't actually come into use until 1896. In that year the opponents were Democratic Bryan and Republican McKinley. The tariff was the principal issue and the Republicans started out with such slogans as "Protection and Prosperity," "Free Trade and Pauperized Labor" and "Free Trade and the Destruction of American Industries." But wise old Mark Hanna boiled them all down into the vote-getting slogan of the "Full Dinner Pail" and the American laborer who wanted one voted for McKinley and elected him.

Thirty-two years later the Republicans used a variation on the prosperity theme and their promise to the voters of "A car in every garage and a chicken in every pot" helped Herbert Hoover defeat Al Smith in the election of 1928.

Just a Little Bit of Humour

INFORMATION WANTED

A big business man was cruising along at 60 miles per hour when there was an awful roar and a little baby car came alongside. The big business man snorted and put his foot down on the accelerator. He increased his speed from 60 to 70, 75, 80 and 90—still the little fellow kept alongside. Suddenly the little fellow put his window down and shouted: "Hey, do you know anything about these cars?"

The big fellow said: "Yes, I make them!"

"Then," said the little fellow, "can you tell me how to get out of second gear?"

Just Wondering

A woman troubled with nightmares who frequently cried out in her sleep was advised by her doctor to live with a cheerful family in order that her nerves might improve.

She accordingly advertised for a room with "a family who would not object to screaming in the night."

She received several answers, and among them was one which asked: "How often would you require us to scream?"

NO USE

"Are you practicing food economy?"

"I tried it out, but it didn't work. My husband simply refused to eat the cold boiled egg that was left over from the day before."

Atrocious

A guide was showing a party of tourists through the Corcoran Art Gallery in Washington. Pausing before a beautiful statuette, the guide said: "This is Venus at the Bath—executed in terra cotta."

One of the tourists exclaimed in horror: "What a pity! How barbarous those Asiatic countries are."

The Hardest Part

"Your work must cause you moments of indignation."

"Many of them," said Senator Sorghum.

"What do you regard as the hardest part of your job?"

"Obeying instructions when the photographer orders me to smile for another picture."

One Drawback

"My boy Josh knows all about agriculture," said Farmer Corn-tassel.

"Then he's a great help."

"He might be, if he didn't take up all the time of the hired help instructing 'em."

NO GABBLING

"My husband and I never have an argument."

"Doesn't he talk back?"

Pleasant Fellow

A student entered a hygiene lecture room when the class was half over. The professor did not recognize him, and thinking he was in the wrong room questioned him.

"Hygiene?"

"Howdy, professor," retorted the delinquent one.

JERRY MEETS WITH AN ACCIDENT

IF JERRY MUSKRAT had not still been suspicious of Farmer Brown's Boy the accident might not have happened. Then again it might, if not at that particular time at some other and less fortunate time. Anyway, it happened, and Jerry will not soon forget it.

He was a little way up the Laughing Brook that morning when he heard some one coming down the Laughing Brook. By the sound he knew that it was one of those twolegged human creatures and at once Jerry started pell-mell back toward the Smiling Pool.

Now the water in the Laughing Brook was low. In many places it was too low for swimming, so Jerry ran along the shore just under the edge of the bank. There were many roots of trees and bushes from which the water had washed away the earth, and they crossed and recrossed each other. Sometimes Jerry ran under them and sometimes he jumped over them, whichever seemed easiest and best.

Now Jerry was in such a hurry to get back to the Smiling Pool that he didn't watch his steps as he should have. Perhaps it was because at the same time he was trying to watch behind him to see who it was that was coming. Anyway, in jumping over some of those tangled roots he didn't jump quite far enough and one hind foot slipped down between them. It went in easy enough, but when Jerry tried to pull it out it didn't come. It was held fast. You see his weight had forced two roots apart just enough to allow his leg to slip down between, and now they pinched it tight.

Jerry's first thought was that he had stepped in another of those dreadful traps. He hadn't a doubt of it. He was quite frantic with fear, and he tugged and wrenched with all his might. It was a wonder that he didn't break his leg. But the more he struggled the tighter he was held. You see, that leg began to swell at once where it was caught, and, of course, the more it swelled the more impossible it was to get it free.

Poor Jerry! Hope died as he heard the footsteps coming nearer and nearer. He twisted around so as to get a good look at the trap, and when he discovered that it wasn't a trap at all that held him he could hardly believe his eyes. The discovery would have been a great relief had it not been for those footsteps coming nearer and nearer.

"If I had time I could gnaw those roots off," thought Jerry as he wrenched and twisted and pulled. But there wasn't time, and so he continued to struggle, hoping to get free before he should be discovered.

MOTHER'S COOK BOOK

LUNCHEON DISHES

FOR a most tasty luncheon dish, try the following when it is convenient:

Casserole of Noodles and Tuna Fish.

Take two cupfuls of uncooked noodles, one pound can of tuna fish, one-fourth cupful of chopped pimiento, two cupfuls of drained, canned peas, two cupfuls of thin white sauce and buttered crumbs. Cook the noodles until tender in three quarts of boiling water to which one tablespoonful of salt has been added. Drain and place a layer of noodles in the bottom of a buttered baking dish, then a layer of fish, pimiento and peas. Season well and repeat until all the ingredients are used. Pour over the white sauce and top with a thick layer of buttered crumbs. Bake until brown.

Chicken Pie Supreme.

Cut up a cooked chicken and arrange in a large casserole in layers with uncooked rice, add small onions, broken mushrooms and a few peas. Dot each layer with butter, using two layers of chicken. Pour over well-seasoned chicken broth, season well, cover and cook until the rice is done. Uncover and place very small baking powder biscuits over the top or well-browned croutons.

Orange Tapioca.

Take four tablespoonfuls of quick cooking tapioca, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one and one-third cupfuls of boiling water and cook in a double boiler for 15 minutes, or until the tapioca is transparent, stirring frequently. Add one-half cupful of sugar, and when well mixed a cupful of orange juice and the grated rind of half an orange. Stir until cool. When cool fold in one-half cupful of whipped cream. Pile in sherbet glasses and serve.

Spanish Sandwich.

Chop enough green pepper and onion to make two tablespoonfuls each. Cook until a light brown, in one tablespoonful of butter. Add a cupful of thick tomato pulp and sim-

I'll Pay My Way

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

I'll pay my way along life's road,
However heavy is the load,
I'll pay my way for what I find,
With kindness try to pay the kind,
I'll pay my way to ev'ry child
That ever looked at me and smiled,
I'll pay my way—not take men's aid
And go my way, my debt unpaid.

I'll pay my way, pay God above
For His, by giving others love,
I'll pay my way, for ev'ry tear
That sorrow sheds give someone cheer,

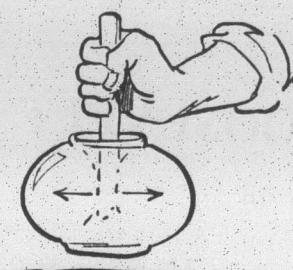

I'll pay my way, not walk alone,
My lamp unlit, my light unshown,
I'll pay my way—and, if forgot,
I'll pay my way if blest or not.

RICE
TO SIDES

THE HINDU RICE MYSTERY

HERE is a trick in which the magician duplicates one of the celebrated mysteries of the Hindu fakirs. A small bowl, a bag of rice and a table knife are the items used.

The magician fills the bowl with rice. He takes the knife, thrusts its blade deep into the rice grains; then raises the knife by the handle.

In uncanny fashion, the bowl of rice comes up with the knife blade and remains suspended until the magician grips the bowl with his left hand and removes the knife with his right.

The whole secret lies in the shape of the bowl. It must be of a type which bulges at the sides with a narrow mouth. In this type of bowl, the knife forces rice to the sides and the tight grains cause sufficient pressure to raise bowl and all when the knife is lifted.

They Took Their Annual Sky Outing

Every year the Hicks family of Detroit goes on a sort of aerial junket, and this season was no exception. Fred Hicks, a restaurant owner, Mrs. Hicks and the ten Hicks kids chartered a big transport plane, flew to Cleveland, circled the city a few times, and then returned, satisfied for another year. It all started in 1927 when one of the little Hickses promoted himself an airplane ride. Hicks, Sr., decided to take the whole family, and they liked it so well they've been doing it every year since.

NEWSPAPER WEEK

Year in and year out, your newspaper records the life of its community and of the world. It is like a mirror in which mankind sees itself reflected in the whole passing pageant of joy and birth and death and sorrow, of clamor and clash of wills, of catastrophe and human triumph.

Next week you will be invited to look behind the looking glass, and to see your newspaper itself as an institution with problems and ideals and purposes, and a place of its own in the human scheme.

October 5 to 12 will be Newspaper Week in California.

It is a timely observance, for the public's better understanding of newspapers is particularly needed now, in these hectic pre-election weeks. Where controversial issues are involved, it is so easy for a newspaper sincerely trying to point the sanest way, to be misunderstood.

Newspaper week will emphasize the twofold purpose of any newspaper worthy of the name. That purpose is to print the news fairly and accurately; and, through interpretation of the news to shed what light it can on the pathway of human progress.

FRIENDSHIP AND PEACE.

Emerson once said over seventy years ago, that the only way to have a friend, is to be a friend; but discerning men knew this long before the great poet. Friendship and ideals go hand in hand for a peaceful civilization. We often talk peace without ever knowing its value. Thus, we are poor patterns for peace! Peace is the absence of discord; it is a state of harmonious, purposeful living. Then, peace should edify the world and enrich its influence among nations; besides making possible every kind of progress for up-building and sustaining friendly relations.

Peace makes ideals into realities, with a splendid response from citizenship, based upon universal and happy living. With more than a century of peace between United States and Canada, and with over 3,000 miles of undefended frontier bordering the two nations, it is a good example for the rest of the world, which is also heavily armed; who might well follow the same spirit of friendly neighborliness!

Study the exports and imports and you will readily see the result of such peaceful commercial intercourse. Canada is Uncle Sam's best customer; and too, far more tourist traffic crosses the American-Canada border line than any other international boundary. President Roosevelt is the first American president to pay an official visit to the Dominion of Canada!

If the world could be peaceable as these two nations, universal peace would be the greatest world boast! These two countries are crowned with progress and riches which no nation could have only through the same peaceful relations existing. Our American stability is a grand heritage. The Philippines is the richest country in the world, acre for acre, and it has the largest chrome deposits under the American flag, and last year outranked Alaska in gold production. Canada's wealth is next, being beyond computation.

The celebrated painting entitled, "The Doctor," a choice work of art by Sir Luke Fildes, who is called the friend of all mankind, is admired by millions. This masterpiece in oil emphasizes the importance of the family doctor in the average home. He not only tries to keep people well but he is the one who saves the sick. After all, humanity is a stupid, ignorant people when it comes to seeking health. How many live on advice and medicine! The greatest doctor on earth is Nature. We are too busy to heed the call of Nature; we lose all sense of even caring for ourselves as long as there is a doctor in the neighborhood. All honor to the doctor! he is so necessary when the patient is "all in" and has gone to bed to fight a fever. But Nature is also kind, and the doctor well knows that rules laid down are safe and a great healer when abided by. For one rule, Nature invites one to absorb more oxygen at the rate of from six miles or more every day "on the hoof," for physical agility and mental spryness. Oh, we say, "I don't have the time!"

Can one imagine what evolution is doing in this great land of ours? Truly, as one takes particular observation, he is sure to find that nearly all things are making a gradual advance from the rudimentary state to one of more complex, though with greater utility and higher character. Here, for instance, the manufacture of tourist trailers for automobiles has been growing so rapidly that experts within the past month have been predicting that 25 per cent of the country's citizens will be living on wheels by 1956. They base their prediction on the rate of manufacture at this time. There are now about 600 trailer-building firms in the United States, and all pretty busy. Unit prices range from $400 to $3,500, which would indicate that anywhere from a double-room home to a real palace on wheels.

The radio is the great benefactor in this political campaign. It is not placing the number too high to say that when any of the presidential candidates speak, no less than 50,000,000 people hear them especially on a national hookup. The radio is, therefore the educator, it "caps the climax," for reaching the masses. American listeners last year bought 6,026,000 radio sets. This year's estimate is already set at 8,000,000. Billions of dollars go into the enterprise, and this is not all; besides a total of nearly a half million dollars may go into tubes, service and repairs, annually! It costs to broadcast on a national hookup, but it reaches the people.

W.C.T.U. PLEASSED WITH PAST YEAR'S WORK

The County W.C.T.U. convention held Sept. 24-25 in San Diego, was full of interest and enthusiasm. The reports of activities during the year included the splendid exhibit maintained during the Exposition, the large amount of bouquets given to sick, good will bags, etc. The necessity of giving useful educational gifts instead of guns and fighting toys, to children was urged. Claude A Watson, Los Angeles attorney gave a very clear explanation of the measures No. 3 and No. 9 in the Nov. ballot. Rev. J. Evans' subject was Peace, and very much enjoyed by all as a thoughtful and timely warning.

Ocean Beach Union was well represented at the last meeting of the W.C.T.U., the report of the year's work showed that seven new members and three white ribbon recruits had been secured. Our pledge of $93.00 to the Centennial Educational fund paid, and a fine spirit of enthusiasm and cooperation for the coming year activities was shown. Our meetings are held on the 3rd Thursday of each month. We earnestly solicit the interest and participation of all who are interested in the moral and physical conditions surrounding our children.

MORNING FORUM FOR LOCAL WOMEN'S CLUBS

A morning forum will be held Tuesday, October 6, 10:30 a. m. at the Ocean Beach Women's club under their sponsorship. The meeting will be open to discussion and led by John R. Lyons. Subject next Tuesday: Is Your Political Preference Inherited.

Of The Ocean Beach News, published weekly at Ocean Beach, California, (Branch of San Diego, P. O.) for October 1, 1936.

State of California, County of San Diego: ss.
Before me, a Notary Public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared H. H. Hartvigsen, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the publisher of The Ocean Beach News, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, as amended by the Act of March 3, 1933, embodied in section 537, Postal Laws and Regulations printed on the reverse side of this form, to wit:

That the name and address of the publisher, editor, managing editor and business manager is H. H. Hartvigsen, Ocean Beach, San Diego, Calif.

That the owner is: H. H. Hartvigsen, Ocean Beach, San Diego, Calif.
That the known bond holders, mortgages, and other securities held by or for the publisher, or holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: NONE.

That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the names of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person, corporation for whom such trust is acting, is given; also that the two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and that affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds or other securities than as so stated herein.

H. H. HARTVIGSEN
Sworn to and subscribed before me this 22nd day of September, 1936.

READ THESE FACTS

Hiding under the title of "Retail Store License," Proposition 22 on the November ballot is really a tax on you. Proposing to tax individual stores $1 a year and chains $500 for each store over nine. It must be defeated because:

It Would Raise Prices

The U. S. Federal Trade Commission says: "If the ability to undersell, based on greater efficiency or on elimination of credit and delivery cost is destroyed by taxation it is the consuming public which will really pay the tax and not the chain."

It Would Be Unfair

It is an attempt to destroy competition by taxation. Small chain stores would be taxed up to $5,000 times as much per dollar of sales as big department stores.

It Would Hurt California

Chain stores bene it California consumers, farmers, employment, taxpayers, investors and property values. To cripple them is to hurt all California business.

FANCY WORDS and literary writing do not count in this contest—just your own reasons for defeating a scheme to pay hidden taxes on the foods and other necessities you buy. Only residents of California are eligible. You can win as well as anyone!

Entries must be written on the official blank—free, without special purchase at any chain store—and postmarked not later than midnight, October 13, 1936.

WHY PTA?

A goodly number of parents joined together at the Ocean Beach school Wednesday evening, Sept. 23, to welcome back the faculty and to greet each other after summer vacation.

Since this meeting came in the midst of the yearly enrollment Mrs. Don Horner, second vice president of Ninth district Congress of Parents and Teachers, presented a few of the reasons for working together in so great a cause as child welfare. The work of the State Congress for the year is centered around three objectives: First to promote for the adult understanding. No home can be more than a house without understanding parents and this understanding does not come with biological parenthood. To this end some thousand parent education classes will be conducted throughout the state to help parents first to understand themselves in order that they may better understand their children.

The PTA stands as a council table where teachers and parents (the two groups most interested in the child) may meet on a social friendly plane to discuss the problems of education without feeling and without rancor—open mindedness and willing to assume the responsibility for doing something about conditions. The PTA is always the ally of education and since it represents an enlightened public opinion, it is obligated to take the lead in the modification of the school program to accomplish changes to meet the new demands of a changing world. Second to obtain for the child security. The welfare office of the San Diego council with its efficient welfare secretary last year aided 3857 persons, gave out 3247 new garments and 14428 used ones, 2626 pairs of new and used shoes and 3000 bottles of milk besides recommending thousands of lunches to be given, through the county. The crossing problem is being taken care of for the first time this year through the effort of the PTA. A dental program is again installed in the city schools. The school dances in charge of PTA members have meant much in social security for the young people.

Third for all peace. Peace must come first to individuals, to homes, then spread to the community, the state, the nation and the world. Hence one of the greatest privileges of the PTA is to work for the peaceful happy home in which our young people may develop the ability to live in a democracy.

Thomas Schumacher, vocational guide of the YMCA, talked of the summer camp activities and the necessity of parents learning with their children—families who play together, stay together.

The drama class put on a clever skit which added greatly to the merriment of the group and the social hour gave the parents an opportunity to meet the various members of the faculty.

NORTH DAKOTANS TO PICNIC

Next Sunday October 4th former residents of North Dakota and their friends will hold a picnic in Pepper Grove at Balboa Park at noon.

Coffee will be furnished by the state society.

THE THEOSOPHICAL SOCIETY: POINT LOMA

"The Goal of Human Life" will be discussed next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the temple of Peace, Theosophical headquarters, Point Loma. Miss Judith Tyberg will deliver the forum-lecture. Miss Tyberg as just returned to the Theosophical headquarters after sixteen months traveling, lecturing, and teaching in Europe where she observed first hand both the dissimilarities and the common traits belonging to national groups. "The stumbling block in reaching a goal of high spiritual development for men, Miss Tyberg declares, is their feeling of separativeness. Until they realize they are integral parts of a great whole they will never be able to achieve the harmony that their souls intuitively crave. True civilization is that which permanently uplifts all the race."

The lecturer who taught in the Raja Yoga summer school in Visingso, Sweden, just prior to her sailing for America will discuss the power of intellect and the part it plays in the attainment of human goals. "Man's intellectual powers are just awakening," says Miss Tyberg. "Great feats of accomplishment such as the wonderful Boulder dam project presage the marvelous man will accomplish in the future. More and more will he learn to develop his latent powers for the benefit of all mankind. More and more will he learn to live in the higher parts of his being, and he will realize that these higher parts are the true guides for the lower parts of nature which must be trained to the service of living for others. All down through history the lives of people who have given unstintingly their services the good of all have been those who are most revered and honored. The immediate goal of human life should be toward the harmonious development of all powers latent in man."

Business Men's Ass'n
For No. 3 --- Against 9

North and south, civic and economic leaders of California united this week in a campaign to clean up the State's liquor control situation through passage of proposition 3, the liquor control measure, on the November 3 ballot, and to avert the return of prohibition with its attendant evils through defeat of proposition 9, so-called local option.

Heading the fight in the south is the Southern California Business Men's association, representing approximately 50 diversified industries with Watt L. Moreland, prominent automotive manufacturer, its president, chairman of the campaign advisory committee.

Thousands of women, north and south, are rallying to the cleanup, with Gertrude Atherton, noted novelist, heading the women's auxiliary committee.

"While all condemn present control conditions" said Mr. Moreland, "We believe that the passage of proposition 3 along with the defeat of proposition 9 is the solution."

"California's $250,000,000 a year tourist trade, benefiting all lines of industry would receive a body blow with enactment of prohibition statute. Tourists would not come to a playground deprived of legalized alcoholic beverages available in other states."

Warren-Walker School

The Warren-Walker school opened its fall term with an increased enrollment. At the request of some of the parents the ninth grade has been added. Students enrolled for the first time in the school are Robert Drinkwater, Larry Hackett, Anne Haylick, Alice Mae Knight, Donna Roberson, Jack Storey, Jane Titlow, Donald Smylie, Dan Racey, Judy Pinney and Jeanne Lilley.

Two new teachers are on the faculty of the school. Miss Ruby Warren who has taught in an eastern school works with the primary children. Miss Ruth Bradley of La Jolla is teaching music and languages. The swimming class has had its first lesson at the Silver Spray plunge.

LEGION SWIM CLUB NEWS

As the old saying goes "It pays to advertise" so goes our Ocean Beach American Legion Swim club gaining in popularity for last Tuesday night we signed three new members from over in San Diego, who read about it in the paper and we feel sure that they will tell their friends and neighbors who will in turn tell more people how for a small monthly membership fee and special rates to the pool they can receive free swimming instructions from competent Red Cross instructors. So we urge and invite everybody to come out every Tuesday night and enjoy fun and education in the art of swimming.

It must be remembered that this project is made possible thru the kindness of Mr. Perrine, manager of the Silver Spray pool, also the two instructors Sprade Burns and Eddy Bowie, who are giving their services to the club and the Ocean Beach post 433 American Legion wants them to know that we greatly appreciate the spirit of cooperation they are showing.

Mr. Perrine, is not satisfied with just giving us this concession but plans to have a great big all day swim meet in the very near future with plenty of entertainment to which the entire population of San Diego will be invited.

The new members from over town were Bill and Bob Olmstead, Billy Maches another Boy Scout, Leland Oberholser.

ENDORSE FAIR FOR 1942

The Heaven on Earth club of San Diego in their meeting this week suggested another fair and exposition to be held here in 1942. They heartily endorse the move and say that another such project should be carried out here again in a few years.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Adam and Fallen Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ. Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. Paul's words to the Romans: "They which are the children of the flesh, these are not the children of God" constitute the Golden Text.

Among the Bible citations in the Lesson-Sermon are these verses from John: "Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." Another selection cites Paul's words to the Corinthians: "For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick."

SYNOPSIS

Sleepy Cat, desert town of the Southwest, is celebrating the Fourth of July. Jane Van Tassel, beautiful daughter of Gus Van Tassel, hated owner of Gunlock ranch, has arrived from the East for the first time. She watches the Frontier Day celebration in company with Dr. Carpy, crusty, tender-hearted friend of the community. Henry Sawdy of the Circle Dot ranch, tricked in a fake horse race the day before by Dave McCrossen, foreman at Gunlock, plans revenge. He enters Bill Denison, a handsome young Texas wrangler, in the rodeo which McCrossen is favored to win, and lays heavy bets on him. Unknown to the crowd, Denison is a champion horseman. McCrossen and the young stranger tie in the various events. Denison then drops a cigarette carelessly. Racing down the track full tilt, he picks up the cigarette. The verdict goes to Denison when McCrossen refuses to attempt the stunt. Entreated by the crowd, Denison agrees to perform another trick. Jane Van Tassel is asked for her bracelet and throws it on the track. Just as Denison rides to pick it up a yell from Barney Rebutstock, a McCrossen henchman, scares the pony, nearly costing the rider his life. Gun play is prevented by the intervention of Dr. Carpy. Back on Gunlock ranch after two years in Chicago, because of her father's illness, Jane gets lost riding in the hills and meets Denison, now a neighbor, who guides her home. Not knowing her identity, he speaks bitterly of Van Tassel. She tells McCrossen who brought her home and he denounces Denison as a cattle thief. Later he asks Dr. Carpy why her father is unpopular and he tells her it is because of Van Tassel's ruthless and unscrupulous character.

"Who is that man?" asked Bull as Panama left the shop.

"Why, you ought to know that man, Bull. He's an old-time Sleepy Cat gambler and confidence man—up to every game they ever played from here to Frisco."

"What's his name?"

"They used to call him Big Bill Hayes."

"I heard that name."

"Guess you did—guess everybody's heard it."

"But he made a trip to Panama when the French outfit was runnin' things there. He cleaned up on the Frenchmen, and they run him out of town. He says he got the dysentery down there. Anyway, he got away before they strung him up for a cardsharp. Now everybody calls him Panama."

"What's he doin' here now?"

"Way, the damned critter got religion somehow, and he's the kindest, best preacher that ever talked in Sleepy Cat. He's doin' a world of good."

Oscar spoke up. "Panama's breaking Jake of swearing, Bull."

"Got a job, ain't he?" snickered Bull.

"Just the same, he's cooed me down a lot—you know that, Oscar," declared Spotts. "Otto!" he yelled to the porter in the back room. "What the hell's a matter with the hot water this mornin'?"

CHAPTER IV

Jane made it a practice to visit her father at the Medicine Bend hospital at least every two weeks.

She spent the day at the hospital with her father, ate an early supper with him, and took Number One back to Sleepy Cat. Her father asked a good many questions about McCrossen.

"A good man," Van Tassel said wheezily of him again and again. "His only trouble is gambling—he will gamble."

"I'm sorry, Father," returned Jane with asperity—it was not the first time he had made the same remark—"but I don't quite see how I can watch him, do you?"

"Well, keep track of the shipments this month. The steers will be going out right along now—good deal of money coming in. See that he don't get too much away from you, under one pretext or another. When he wants money to gamble, he won't stop at nothing. And it won't do a bit of hurt to be kind of nice to him yourself."

Hints such as these failed to move Jane. Indeed, they aroused an antagonism.

When the train pulled into Sleepy Cat late that night it was cold; a north wind was splitting rain. McCrossen was on hand with the two-seated buckboard. He met Jane at the Pullman step and hurried her through the sprinkle across the platform to the rig.

"I piled the house supplies in the back," explained McCrossen, "so you'd better ride with me."

"Brought you an extra-heavy coat over," he added. "Thought you might need it. Will you put it on now?"

His voice, never harsh, sounded solicitous. Jane thought she would put the coat on. Her foreman, sitting beside her, helped her get it into it. His manner was tender. His hands, as she straightened the coat collar, lingered a moment on her shoulders. Jane shook her shoulders slightly to draw them away.

"Your father's a great man, Jane," he said. "No use talkin'."

"I'm glad to hear someone say a good word for him," returned Jane dryly.

"Oh, he's got his enemies, I know. But from the first minute I ever saw you, girl, when you got off the train that mornin' in Sleepy Cat"—McCrossen inclined in friendly fashion toward his tight-sitting little companion to emphasize his words—"from the very first minute I saw you, I said to myself, 'There's a girl with all the grit and sand of her father.'"

"Hadden't you better drive a little faster?" suggested Miss Tight Sitter, casually.

"I'm afraid to push the old buckboard over this part of the road. So I said to myself," he continued, "There's a girl with her father's grit and her mother's beauty. Jane"—he lowered his voice, becomingly—"are you warm?"

"Quite."

"And comfortable?"

"Perfectly. But I should like to get on faster."

McCrossen brought the horses to a stop. "What's the matter?" asked his companion rather tartly.

"This is Gunlock Ford. The creek was runnin' kind of high when I drove through after supper, and it's been rainin' all evenin'. We don't want to get caught in the water. I'll get out and see how things look. Take the lines a minute."

"It's safe, I reckon," he reported, returning soon to the rig. "But you'd better put your feet in my lap till we get across. The water might come up through the floorboards."

Her response was chilly. "My feet will be all right where they are."

"O. K., Jane! But you're about the sweetest girl I ever saw in the world."

Snitting action to these words, McCrossen put his arm swiftly around the girl and pulled her toward him for a kiss.

He failed to get one. Instead, he got a smart slap from Jane's gloved hand; and she pushed him back with a force he had not thought possible in so delicate a feminine make-up.

"Please mind your business, Dave, and attend to your driving," said Jane collectedly.

The night was an unquiet one for Jane's pillow. The more she thought about her surprise admirer and his crude advances, the angrier she grew. In the morning she breakfasted and ordered her saddle pony. She meant to take a long ride all by herself and rid herself of her annoyance in the morning air of the high hills.

The day was sympathetic to her purpose. She rode under a cloudless sky into the far reaches of Gunlock Ranch. Insensibly, the clouds in her mind cleared and left her free to enjoy the glory of the scene.

On and on, Jane rode. The pony was spirited and seemed, like his mistress, to enjoy the jaunt. The farther she rode, the wilder the country grew. With only small bunches of cattle here and there to remind her of her domain. At length the hills grew too rough for pleasure riding. With her spirits quieted and feeling invigorated, Jane reined about for the ranch house.

Covering considerably more distance, Jane, having grown weary, was rejoiced at last to see the dusty, serpentine foothills road well below her. Having reached it, she reined into it and jogged along, confident of reaching home soon. Presently she encountered an Indian family travelling toward her in a wagon. She reined up.

"Am I heading right for Gunlock Ranch?" she asked of the man driving. He nodded affirmatively. But a bright-eyed boy in the wagon box made a protest. He jabbered in low tones to his father and, turning to Jane, exclaimed, "Wrong way," and pointed north. The father shook his head, and the dispute grew. Jane, confused by the uncertainty, thanked the party and rode on south.

A few miles farther she met a horseman heading north. As he drew near, Jane thought she recognized him as the man who had directed her back to the ranch a couple of weeks before, at the close of a long day of riding through the Gunlock hills. Jane reined up inquiringly. The horseman responded to the unspoken invitation by doing likewise. Jane saw a slender face, deeply tanned, black hair, mild brown eyes, a large nose, and a small mouth, framed by a not unfriendly chin.

"Good-morning," ventured Jane. "Can you tell me whether I am on the right road to Gunlock Ranch?"

The man listened but made no effort to speak. Instead he looked at the girl silently. His gaze was embarrassing.

He ignored her question and instead asked one himself:

"Aren't you the girl who got lost around here a couple of weeks ago?"

"Yes," answered Jane. "And aren't you the man who directed me back to Gunlock Ranch?"

"Guess I was," the man replied, in an absent-minded way.

"I realize that it's stupid of me to lose my way again," she said, "but can you tell me whether I am heading right for the ranch?"

He found his tongue and spoke quietly: "Well . . . you'd reach the ranch the way you are going, though probably not today."

"Not today?" she asked in amazement.

"You want to reach the ranch house, I suppose?"

"I do."

"Then you're heading the wrong way."

"Will you please set me right?"

"You'd better take the back trail. You're going away from the ranch house now."

Jane exclaimed in surprise. "Why, how is that? Are you sure?"

"Dead sure." A suspicion of humor crept into the words.

Confused at being caught wrong, Jane flushed. The man, silent, just looked at her. She did not like it; he might be laughing at her. Facing him more sternly, she asked with helpless annoyance in her words, "What am I to do?"

"Back trail."

"What does that mean?" she asked tartly.

"Turn around."

"Where am I?"

"Pretty well out on the Gunlock Indian Reservation."

"I've never felt so stupid in my life," declared Jane, trying to act at ease as she reined about. "I thought I knew this country well enough by this time not to get lost. I'm certainly not a tenderfoot."

The man smiled, but to himself. "There's been men here several years who get lost riding in the hills. It's no disgrace for a two-monther."

Jane did not relish being termed a "two-monther." "Oh, I've been here before," she said airily.

He offered no comment. Tired, waiting for him to say something, Jane was nettled by his continued silence.

"I see you're wearing your bracelet," he remarked of a sudden. The words came, so to speak, out of a clear sky. She looked at him just as suddenly as he had spoken; and in alarm.

He was looking straight ahead—just as if she were not within miles—and with the impassive expression of a man riding quite alone. Could he be, she asked herself in a flash of fear, a bad man? Could he mean to rob her of her bracelet and watch?

For a moment she was too upset to speak. But her silence seemed not to move her companion.

Looking placidly ahead, and after waiting for her to comment, he spoke again:

"I might be wrong. But I thought I saw that bracelet about two years ago, Fourth of July."

"Oh," exclaimed Jane for want of something better to say.

"Anyway," continued her even-speaking guide, "I know I couldn't be mistaken about the young lady that wore it. Weren't you visiting here around that time?"

"Yes," ventured Jane, stealing a glance at the questioner. His gaze was fixed steadfastly ahead.

"Were you at the Frontier Day celebration in Sleepy Cat that Fourth of July?" he continued.

"Yes," repeated Jane. "Were you?"

"If I hadn't been," he answered dryly, "I shouldn't have seen the bracelet."

They were jogging along pleasantly enough, and as the man didn't actually demand her bracelet or watch, her panic subsided.

"Stopping over at the ranch for a while, are you?"

"For a while, yes."

"Some of the boys over at your ranch were telling in town they had a young lady over at Gunlock that used to ride in a circus. I suppose it was you."

"I'm the only woman, young or old, over there."

"What circus did you work with?"

"Oh, several circuses," said Jane recklessly.

"What were some of them?"

Jane, growing flighty, named one of the big ones whose shows she had attended in Chicago.

"What year were you with that show?"

She was growing desperate. With affected embarrassment she turned full on him. "You mustn't ask me that. Women are sensitive about their age, don't you know?"

For the first time he turned his eyes directly toward hers; there was a slight mutual shock at the encounter. To hide a momentary confusion, she laughed nervously; but a bridge—a little bit of a bridge over a little bit of a brook—had been crossed. And the little bit of a brook was of the kind that sometimes leads to a big river.

His eyes were brown—Jane could see them now—together with some of the lightning that flashed in response to her words. She was even a little scared.

"I've heard some women are that way," he went on, "but I shouldn't call you a woman."

"Oh, my! Why not?"

"Well, I'd call you a girl. The reason I asked was, because I was with that show one season myself."

This was growing terrifying. Jane made an effort to change the line of talk; but her stranger was interested. "Did you ever happen to ride in Madison Square Garden?"

"No! Did you?"

"I rode there one winter when we showed there."

Black Satin Frock for Autumn Wear

Introducing Autumn's smartest frock. Snug at the waistline and flared below, a youthful interpretation with snap and dash.

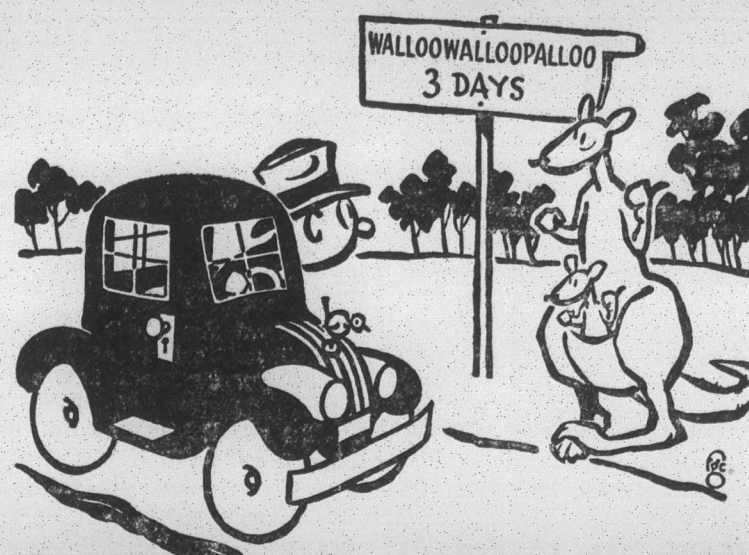

The blouse has a clever feminine touch in its soft gathers that peep cunningly from beneath the yoke, which is topped by a narrow standing collar that ties in a dainty knot. To please your whim, omit the necktie and substitute a neckerchief, or ascot tie; then again forget about the buttons, open the yoke, press down the sides forming a V and trim it with a bright boutonniere. You may have your way about the sleeves, too, for the pattern offers both, long and short. A graduated gore reduces the sweep at the hipline and gives the much desired flare to the hem.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1949-B

is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Corresponding bust measurements 30, 32, 34, 36 and 38. Size 14 (32) requires four and three-eighths yards of 39-inch material, four and one-fourth yards with short sleeves. Price of Pattern, 15 cents.

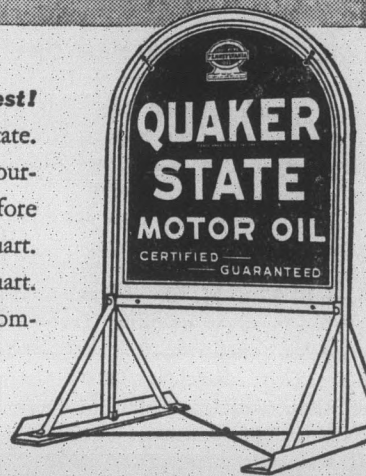

Send your order to The Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., 149 New Montgomery Ave., San Francisco, Calif.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL EVENTS

Lloyd's Lunch at 4999 Voltaire street have contracted for a new Neon sign to cost $200.

The ladies of the Baptist church will hold a home-made food and cake sale at 5008 Newport Ave., this Saturday, October 3.

Edward Plant, 4768 Cape May avenue, was released last week from Navy hospital after receiving treatment there the past two months for an infection in his finger that spread to his hand and arm.

The Ocean Beach Woman's club will hold a board meeting, Tuesday morning, Oct. 6. The regular club meeting will be held Thursday, Oct. 8. Mrs. Elizabeth Finley, chairman and H. Styles Harris, guest speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Logan E. Ruggles are home from their month's motor trip east. Ruggles attended the national convention of the Fleet Reserve association held in Detroit and labored diligently to have the 1937 meet come to San Diego.

R. R. Edwards, barber, and Dr. Margaret Whitworth, osteopath, who were in the Strand theatre building, both discontinued business the first of the week and have moved back to San Diego. The Strand Yarn Shop will soon open in the room that was occupied by Mrs. Whitworth.

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Van Hook returned Sunday evening from a three days trip during which time they motored to visit relatives in San Joaquin valley and take in the Tulare county fair, where they report many fine displays of live stock and agricultural exhibits were shown. The Van Hooks lived in the San Joaquin valley some thirty years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Gower returned Wednesday evening from a three weeks vacation to the San Francisco bay district where they visited their children and families. A highly enjoyable time is reported. Mr. Gower says the cotton crop of the Tulare district is an outstanding accomplishment this year and very noticeable to the visitor in that part of the San Joaquin valley.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Corlett of Toronto, Canada, have just completed an eight day visit at the home of Mrs. John Milligan, 4631 Bermuda ave. Mrs. Milligan and Mrs. Corlett are sisters and the week was a most pleasant time for them as they had not met since they parted in Scotland 16 years ago. The Corletts enjoyed their visit to this section and expect to return again next year.

Mrs. Bartly Swartz of Mendocino City has left for home after a visit with her mother, Mrs. Emma Wagner, of several weeks. Mrs. Swartz nee Florence Wagner came to Ocean Beach in 1920. She and family are now living on their ranch in the redwoods of Mendocino county. She enjoyed the visit here very much, seeing old friends again and finding so much advancement and still improving Ocean Beach.

Mrs. Rose M. Libby of Canton, N. Y., arrived here the first of the week and has taken a cottage at Paradise court, expecting to spend the winter in California. Mrs. Libby left home Sept. 14 and motored out alone, traveling mostly via the Lincoln highway to Canada, then to Detroit, Mich., and Davenport, Iowa. She thought Wyoming was a mighty lonesome state and might as well be given back to the Indians and buffalo.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Clark of Laurens, Iowa, who are visiting at the Insko home, motored to Los Angeles and return the first of the week. Mrs. Clark is a sister of Myron Insko.

Rally day will be held Sunday, October 11, at the Methodist church. A program given by the boys and girls of the Sunday school will begin at 9:30 a. m. At 10:45 a special rally day service for young people and adults will be held.

The women's council of the Methodist church met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. R. Felt. Mrs. Felt and Mrs. Myron Insko hostesses. This is the last meeting of the council before the Felts leave to take up work in India where they have spent some thirty odd years. They expect to leave about the middle of November.

The News this week, received a card from Frank J. Gruber who with Mrs. Gruber, on Sept. 23, was in London, Ontario, Canada. The Grubers are traveling over familiar territory wherever they go as they were in the show business with stock companies on the road for many years. They say it will be quite some time before they are at home again in Southern California.

MEN O.E.S. MEMBERS IN CHARGE MONDAY

Last Saturday evening at 8 p. m. in the Baptist parsonage, Rev. W. S. Dunn united in marriage Miss Frances B. Wright and Albert L. Engi in a single ring ceremony witnessed only by members of the family and intimate friends. The bridesmaid was Miss Ruby Wright, sister of the bride. The best man was Clarence M. Wheeler.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Q. Wright who have until recently lived at 4475 Santa Monica ave., and has many friends here who will wish the young folks many happy years together.

Dr. H. E. Bailey Rescues Boy Swimmers

Heroism of a 7 year-old boy, who clutched his drowning companion and held onto him until aid arrived, and prompt action of a doctor and police Saturday saved the life of Robert Kovitz, 7½, 4934 W. Pt. Loma blvd.

Kovitz and Allen Alloway, 7, Encanto, who was visiting at the Kovitz home went swimming at the foot of Cable st., near the Mission Bay bridge. Kovitz, playing and frolicking in the water of the bay, got beyond his depth.

He screamed and lashed out frantically. Seeing his companion's predicament, young Alloway started shouting and working his way toward the drowning youth. Dr. H. E. Bailey, 2253 Sunset Cliffs blvd., was attracted by the cries of the two and rowed hurriedly to their aid.

When he got to the spot, only Alloway was in sight. Clutching the boy by the collar, Dr. Bailey hauled him into the boat, only to find that young Alloway was grimly holding the Kovitz boy. Dr. Bailey headed for the nearest beach and started artificial respiration.

Passers-by called police and Joe Clarke, lifeguard, who was released from duty about two weeks ago when beach squads were curtailed, responded to the call with Patrolman Richard Disney and Edward Law, WPA recreational director. The three aided by Dr. Bailey, used artificial respiration and an inhalator until Kovitz responded.

Onlookers were warm in their praise for the efforts of the four, saying the Kovitz boy appeared dead when he was laid on the beach.

Pomona Fair Exhibits Coming To Del Mar

The sweepstake-winning exhibit entered in the Pomona fair by Escondido and the San Diego county and Orange county exhibits will be brought to San Diego to be shown at the county fair in Del Mar, Oct. 8 to 18, fair officials were advised yesterday.

The beautiful Escondido exhibit, and early California mission garden scene designed by Mrs. Pansy Claggett, topped the sweepstakes award for chamber of commerce display for the third time. The trophy for the award now is the permanent property of the Escondido chamber. These three exhibits will be among others entered by counties and cities.

Ocean Beach School Joins PTA Contest

CIVIC LEAGUE
Recently the pupils in Miss Shea's room organized their Civic League and elected the following officers: President, Betty Mae Walsh; secretary, Wayne Bailey; vice-president, Sherman Boles. The newly elected president will appoint committees soon.

Robert Bond of Topeka, Kansas enrolled in the L-6 grade this Monday.

BANK TELLERS
As bank tellers are chosen from the H-6 grade each semester four students in Mr. Robinson's room were appointed to serve this first semester who are Amy Lou Temple, Shirley Jensen, Donald Castanien and Edward Litten.

PTA TRAINS WHISTLE
Children in all of the grades are very much interested in the PTA membership contest. Fourteen trains are moving full steam ahead down fourteen tracks each room trying to fill its trains with passengers whose destination is Ocean Beach school, PTA study groups, and meetings. For each two members the train is moved forward two ties down the track. Monday, Sept. 28 ninety-two were board. Room 12 train is leading with 23 members; room 5 second with 16 members and room 9 with 15 members; room 10, 12 passengers; room 7 with 11 members; room 13 with 10 members; and room 3 has also 10 members; room 2 and 4 tie with 8 members each; room 1 and kindergarten have 7 members; rooms 8 and 11 have 5 members each; and room 14 has 3 members.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS
Camp Fire girls of Ocean Beach school held a reception last Tuesday for prospective new members. Seventeen girls attended and heard talks about summer experiences at camp by Janet Glithero, Bonnie June Moffett, and Joan Oliver.

CITY EDITOR
Children in Miss Figgins' H-5, L-6 grade were hosts Wednesday afternoon to Richard Pourade, city editor of the San Diego Sun. Mr. Pourade spoke to the class on the services of the modern newspaper to the community. The children were much interested in the work of the reporters and other workers who make up the paper.

On Saturday morning a small group of boys from Miss Figgins' room with the teachers visited the officers of the San Diego Sun and saw the newspaper made up from the time a story was phoned in until the news boys took the completed paper on the street.

ATHLETIC BANNERS
At the presentation of athletic banners for the first time during the new school year boy's banners were won by the teams captained by the following: team 1, John Glithero; team 2, Edward Klosterman; team 3, Alan Daun; team 4, Donald Sarrie; team 5, David Coons. Girls' athletic banners were won by the following: team 1, Lenora Batt; team 2, tie between Virginia Walker and Jane Richley; team 3, Janet Glithero; team 4, Muriel Brent.
